Teaching

My teaching experience totals approximately 800 hours, the majority of which independently taught seminar courses at BA, MA and PhD levels during my employment at the University of Greifswald 2004-2015. I have also been lecturing at the University of Helsinki as docent since 2018. The thematic scope of the courses and lectures I have taught reaches from introduction to comparative politics over different topics of comparative welfare state and public policy to quantitative methods of social sciences. Additionally, I have taught courses on research design and a seminar for graduate students.

Language Skills

Finnish (native speaker), German (excellent), English (excellent), Swedish (good reading and basic speaking competence)
